

A LITTLE TALE OF TWO CITIES.

Mrs. Jelke's last across the river and found over here.

Mrs. Minnie Jelke landed in America with her husband last Saturday. They came on the Atlantic steamer from Hamburg and were bound for Wilkesbarre. But they had heard about Hoboken and determined to stay over Sunday and see the sights. They went to the Continental Hotel at First and Hudson streets. Mrs. Jelke had been sick on the way over, and, as she had no appetite her husband left her alone when he went to the dining room on Sunday afternoon. When he returned she had disappeared. The whole Hoboken police department couldn't find her. She wore gold necklace and two bracelets.

Two hours after Mrs. Jelke's disappearance, Mr. and Mrs. Mullings found a woman in New York, surrounded by a crowd. She had a lot of jewels, while a sapphire ring was the only jewel. The woman said that her name was Jelke, and that she had come to America from Austria, a widow, and had gone out for a walk, had lost her way, and had asked a man to direct her. She had been with her husband, Mr. Jelke, and then had left him at Jefferson Market yesterday evening. He had to go to work, but he will claim her this morning.

A German Steamer Advert.
